ATTACK

POLICE PLOT REMEMBRANCE RIOT

THE BOSSES OF THE Metropolitan Police are once again plotting to turn the National Front's dignified Remembrance Day parade and non-political religious service into a bloody riot.

They have repeatedly refused to reply to formal communications from the NF's governing National Directorate, notifying them of the movement's intention to hold the parade as usual. Senior police officers have rejected every attempt by the NF to hold civilized discussions over the details of the day's events.

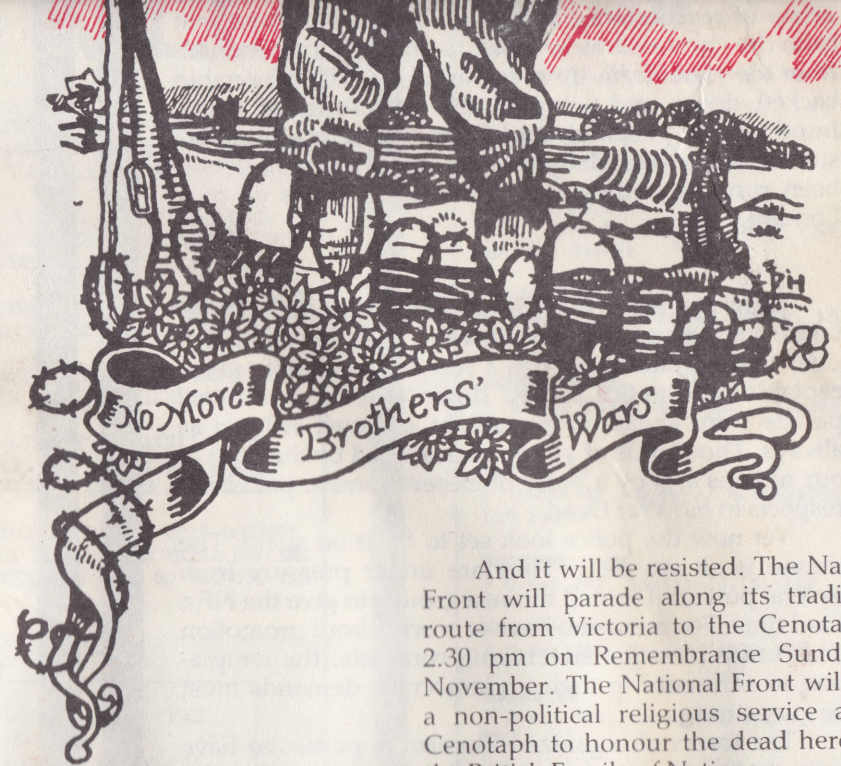

It is clear that the police are trying the same tactics which they used last year in an attempt to deny the National Front and thousands of patriotic Britons the right to march in honour of the British dead of two European Brothers' Wars.

Last year, they refused to negotiate with the NF leadership until the very last minute. They arrogantly claimed that the Front parade would not be allowed along its traditional route, and that various oppressive restrictions would be placed upon it. They also lied that the usual assembly point had been booked in advance by another group.

CONFRONTATION

The NF leadership pointed out that the suggested alternative arrangements were actually more likely to give the Front's violent Marxist opponents the opportunity for confrontation. They told the police that their proposals were unacceptable and that if they wanted to stop the legal and peaceful parade, they would have to arrest thousands of people.

And it will be resisted. The National Front will parade along its traditional route from Victoria to the Cenotaph at 2.30 pm on Remembrance Sunday in November. The National Front will hold a non-political religious service at the Cenotaph to honour the dead heroes of the British Family of Nations.

And the police will negotiate and cease their illegal attempts to ban a legal parade by bullying — or they will rightly be blamed for the chaos their actions will inevitably cause.

Faced with such defiance and unity, the police backed down completely. The parade went ahead as usual. The "Red" counter-demonstration was as weak as usual. No mysterious other group turned up at the form-up point. A small group of reactionary splitters were excluded from the march by disciplined stewards. The police were on their best behaviour. There was no trouble at any NF activity.

It had been hoped that the police would have taken note of this and adopted a more sensible approach in future. Sadly, it seems that they haven't. So yet again, it looks as though our rights will only be maintained through confrontation and struggle.

POTENTIAL RIOT

Once again, the police are winding up a potential riot in their corrupt and politically motivated efforts to stop the National Front. Such stupidity and injustice must be resisted.

Remembrance Day Resisting Oppression

IT seems early for this paper to devote its front page to the question of Remembrance Day and the problems which the Metropolitan police seem intent on causing once again. But it would be a tragedy if the arrogance of the authorities led to disorder and violence on this solemn occasion. Yet that is the likely outcome of their present attitude.

We believe that the best way to avoid such a regrettable situation is to publicize the stupidity and injustice of the police attitude now so that they have plenty of time to reconsider their position.

The simple facts are these. The National Front has held a peaceful and dignified Remembrance Day parade and Cenotaph service every year for the last twenty years. The police have always been notified of the plans for the following year shortly after the previous parade. They then approved the proposals and let the Organizers get on with making sure the event ran smoothly.

They then approved the proposals and let the Organizers get on with making sure the event ran smoothly.

As regular readers will remember, the police broke with this fair and sensible policy last year, trying every trick in the book to force the NF to accept a laughable route of a few hundred yards and no service at the Cenotaph. They were also clearly in league with a small group of reactionaries and police agents who had split from the Party and were trying to organize a rival march from the usual form-up point. Had the NF's leadership backed down and accepted the new form-up point, hundreds of people would have ended up going on someone else's march by mistake, and there would have been running battles with Communist thugs all over London.

Only the unity and resolution of the NF's Directorate and membership prevented this, by making it clear to the police that such a scenario was quite unacceptable. The police backed down and the traditional parade went ahead, as peacefully and well ordered as always. Thousands of young patriots, led by the flags of our nations and by a party of ex-servicemen, paid their respects to our War Dead.

Yet now the police look set to try it on again. The reason is all too clear. They are under pressure from

Thousands of young patriots, led by the flags of our nations and by a party of ex-servicemen, paid their respects to our War Dead.

Yet now the police look set to try it on again. The reason is all too clear. They are under pressure from several powerful vested interest groups to give the NF a hard time. For men who have to worry about promotion and future lucrative advertizing contracts, the temptation to surrender to their undemocratic demands must be very strong.

The forces of organized Zionism in particular have been trying to interfere with Remembrance Day for years. First they asked the Home Office to ban the NF from carrying Union Flags, now they are trying to get it stopped altogether.

It would be very easy for the police to give in to their demands, if it were not for the fact that the National Front has made it clear that such surrender would actually cause trouble, rather than avoid it. We do not like having to take such a stance, but neither are we prepared to sit back and allow our rights and freedoms to be taken without a struggle.

We do not look for trouble, and we do not start fights – but if anyone tries to bully us, they'll end up with a bloody nose.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. For more than a year, the National Front has been subjected to massive interference with the post going to and from its main offices. In order to minimize the disruption this State action causes, you are asked to hand in correspondence for every NF operation whenever possible.

But if the improvement is to be maintained, we desperately need a second double disk drive Amstrad 1512 computer, and we still need modems to link our computers over the telephone for instant exchange of articles. WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

THIS COLUMN is specially designed to keep all NF officials well informed of forthcoming activities and to remind them of what needs to be done over the next two weeks.

All NF officials and activists must therefore make it a top priority to read this column carefully each issue, and then to act on the information.

* ULSTER SALES DRIVE. 7th – 12th July. Mainland activists willing to travel over to help Ulster comrades with the biggest sales opportunity of the year should get in touch through the Contact Line.

Sleeping bags and spending money will be needed, but warm dry floors will be provided each night. Organizers with interested members should contact G.W. directly for further information. The 12th Celebrations are an inspiring part of Britain's folk history, so it's a great experience as well as a politically invaluable activity.

* NEXT NFN. The next issue will be out for the weekend of 3rd/4th July, to coincide with the above event. The extra week gap will also give units the time to get rid completely of any recent issues they may have left over. When did your unit last set up a new sales pitch? When did you last help them?

* FOLLOW-UPS. Get cracking! Every unit should now have organized a team to visit the follow-ups received from anti-election propaganda distributed over the last few weeks. These must be visited quickly.

Even if they cannot be actively involved at present, try to turn them

"We are adamantly opposed to discrimination and we will repeal the sexist and racist aspects of the British Nationality Act."

"We will combat discrimination against black people in housing and employment and take positive steps through such measures as contract compliance."

It is difficult to see how even a reactionary moron like Wingfield can consider it "appropriate" to vote for a candidate backed by such a manifesto. But there again, he was a Liberal activist before joining the Front, so perhaps he is just preparing the way for an open return to his former beliefs when his pitiful fraction finally collapses altogether.

Wingfield conned his way onto the pages of New Society by claiming to be the editor of NF News. Just one more pathetic lie from this clique of liars, crooks, drunks and Tories.

NATIONAL FRONT POLICY STATEMENT

STOP THE BANKERS' SWINDLE

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that the root of most economic ills, including inflation and unemployment, lies in the bankers' usury swindle. Money has no value in itself, it is simply a useful tool to help keep the economy moving. But all the money and credit now needed is created by the banks as an interest bearing debt. So when it is paid back, there is less money in circulation than there was to start with.

This makes the banks incredibly rich, and means that the rest of us cannot afford to buy everything which highly mechanized industry can produce. As a result we get "overproduction" and closed down factories at the same time as poverty and unemployment.

This is insane. The National Front will create a system whereby the money needed by the economy is spent, not lent into circulation. This will provide the capital needed to finance new projects and to end the waste of unemployment, without creating inflation.

HEALTHY AGRICULTURE

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that a healthy people can only be nurtured by a healthy soil. Modern agricultural techniques treat our farmland and environment as a dead factory, where deadly chemicals and hideous genetic engineering experiments can be used freely in the rush for short-term profits.

The National Front demands a return to sustainable and organic based agriculture. A massive programme of land restoration and rural repopulation on smaller owner-occupied holdings is essential. It would give us a guaranteed source of healthy food, independent of dangerous and often imported chemical fertilizers and poisons. It would bring new life back to dying rural communities and reverse the socially and morally damaging drift to enormous and impersonal cities. It would also create really satisfying jobs and decent homes for hundreds of thousands of young fam-

OWNERSHIP AT WORK

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that industry should be run by the British people for the British people. We believe that people work harder for themselves and have more pride in their work when they have a say in their workplace and in its end product.

The National Front therefore opposes the present system of industrial ownership, which puts ownership and control in the hands of a tiny minority, often foreigners and financial institutions.

We will replace this capitalist system and end the disruptive split between ownership and labour, by converting all foreign-owned businesses and all large companies into producers' cooperatives. Small investors will be protected by the conversion of their shares into self-amortizing loans.

PROTECTION OF INDUSTRY

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that Britain should seek to be self-sufprojects and to end the waste of unemployment, without creating inflation.

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that a healthy people can only be nurtured by a healthy soil. Modern agricultural techniques treat our farmland and environment as a dead factory, where deadly chemicals and hideous genetic engineering experiments can be used freely in the rush for short-term profits.

The National Front demands a return to sustainable and organic based agriculture. A massive programme of land restoration and rural repopulation on smaller owner-occupied holdings is essential. It would give us a guaranteed source of healthy food, independent of dangerous and often imported chemical fertilizers and poisons. It would bring new life back to dying rural communities and reverse the socially and morally damaging drift to enormous and impersonal cities. It would also create really satisfying jobs and decent homes for hundreds of thousands of young families, who would then look forward to a real future, instead of a life on the dole.

PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that the destruction of the environment is the inevitable result of capitalist and state socialist materialism. And we are convinced that any people which destroys its natural heritage for the sake of a quick profit is doomed to destruction.

The National Front will therefore make all industrial enterprises pay in full to restore any environmental damage which they cause, plus additional heavy fines to help repair the damage of the past. Sites of Special Scientific Interest and archeological remains will receive absolute protection. The covering of our uplands by alien conifer plantations will be halted and reversed, although a massive programme of reafforestation with native broadleaved trees will be set up.

The money now being used to build dangerous nuclear power stations will be used instead on energy-saving insulation and on research into alternative energy sources. Existing nuclear plants must be closed.

OWNERSHIP AT WORK

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that industry should be run by the British people for the British people. We believe that people work harder for themselves and have more pride in their work when they have a say in their workplace and in its end product.

The National Front therefore opposes the present system of industrial ownership, which puts ownership and control in the hands of a tiny minority, often foreigners and financial institutions.

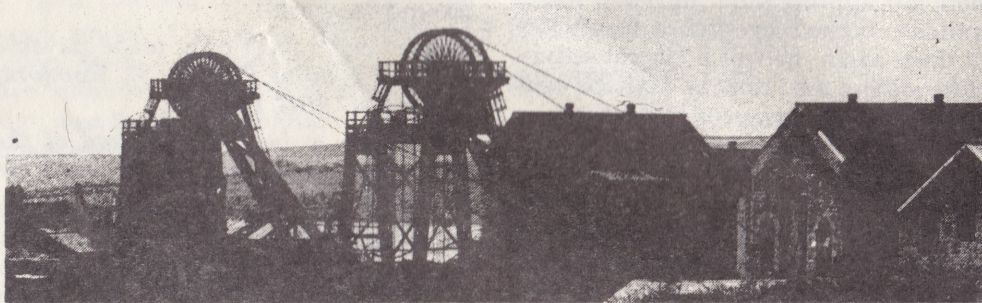

We will replace this capitalist system and end the disruptive split between ownership and labour, by converting all foreign-owned businesses and all large companies into producers' cooperatives. Small investors will be protected by the conversion of their shares into self-amortizing loans.

PROTECTION OF INDUSTRY

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that Britain should seek to be self-sufficient in every possible way. By reducing our dependence on others, Britain would be less vulnerable to disruption in times of international tension or war. And we would cut down our use of globally scarce resources, which is increasingly expensive and ecologically damaging.

Self-sufficiency in manufactured goods is a perfectly realistic aim for an industrial country such as ours. But it is only possible if our industry is protected from cheap foreign competition.

The National Front would therefore introduce tariff barriers to keep out manufactured goods which could be made in Britain. This would not only make Britain more independent, but would provide millions of new jobs.

PROTECTING THE ENVIRONMENT

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that the destruction of the environment is the inevitable result of capitalist and state socialist materialism. And we are convinced that any people which destroys its natural heritage for the sake of a quick profit is doomed to destruction.

The National Front will therefore make all industrial enterprises pay in full to restore any environmental damage which they cause, plus additional heavy fines to help repair the damage of the past. Sites of Special Scientific Interest and archeological remains will receive absolute protection. The covering of our uplands by alien conifer plantations will be halted and reversed, although a massive programme of reafforestation with native broadleaved trees will be set up.

The money now being used to build dangerous nuclear power stations will be used instead on energy-saving insulation and on research into alternative energy sources. Existing nuclear plants must be closed.

RESTORE OUR NATIONAL IDENTITY

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that a nation is built on the foundations of a common culture, common language, common traditions and aspirations – and on a common racial identity. Yet Britain's European cultural and racial identity has been severely undermined since 1948 by the influx of some 5 million Asian, Black and Chinese immigrants.

The British peoples were never asked to agree to this massive change, and have consistently opposed it. So now parliament has passed repressive Race Laws to stifle discussion of the issue at all.

The National Front believes that the multi-racial society is unnatural and is doomed to failure. We reject race hatred, and agree with the many coloured people who believe that the real race haters are the tiny minority who seek to destroy the unique races of Mankind by forcing them to live together and mix. "Racial integration" is just another word for genocide.

We therefore seek to preserve the identity of the British peoples, and acknowledge the right of other races and nations to demand the same right for their own folk – in their own lands.

In order to avoid racial conflict, the NF calls for the phased, humane, financially-assisted repatriation of all coloured immigrants and their descendants to their land of ethnic origin.

ARMED NEUTRALITY

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that Britain should mind her own business and that Britons should only fight in defence of their own land. Yet this country is occupied by over 100 American military bases. As the use of these bases for Ronald Reagan's unprovoked attack on Libya showed, there is every likelihood that their presence here will drag Britain into a foreign war which has nothing to do with us.

The National Front therefore demands the immediate closure of all foreign military and intelligence bases on British soil. We further call for withdrawal from NATO and all similar internationalist groupings which give foreign governments control over any aspect of our national life.

Britain should declare her neutrality and stand aloof from the dangerous Cold War confrontations of the Superpowers. Strong and independent professional armed forces should be backed up by a British Citizens' Militia. If every responsible adult owned and was trained to use a modern rifle (as is the case, for instance, in Switzerland) then no one would dream of invading our land.

PARTICIPATION, NOT REPRESENTATION

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that parliamentary "representation" is an undemocratic farce. Parliamentary elections are not decided by the people, but by the twin powers of Money and the Media. Parliament is simply a cloak for the dictatorship of tiny vested interest groups. Politicians are bought and paid for long before they are elected. And even if they weren't, how can one man truly be said to "represent" 50,000 people?

INDEPENDENCE FOR ULSTER

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that Ulster has the same right to national self-determination as all other nations. It is the clear wish of the majority nation in Ulster to retain their British cultural identity. Yet they are today threatened with being handed over to rule by Eire, which has imperialistic claims to take over this separate nation.

The National Front believes that the only way in which the people of Ulster can resist this Westminster attack on their identity and freedoms is to seize the right to rule themselves and become independent. We also believe that an independent and non-sectarian Ulster could provide a new focus for the loyalty of the rival communities there, and so end the long and bitter divisions which plague this beautiful land.

SAFEGUARD THE FAMILY

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that the family is the basic building block of a stable and healthy society. Yet rising divorce rates, hundreds of thousands of abortions and child abuse, show that the family is under enormous pressure under the present System.

A National Front government will implement economic and social policies which will make ownership of a stake in the means of production, as well as home ownership, a realistic proposition for every family in the land. This alone will bring a new spirit of responsibility, self-confidence and stability to our national life. While women will still be free to go to work, and to receive the same wages for the same job, they will no longer be forced by economic necessity to go out to work if they would rather stay at home and rear a family.

The barbaric use of abortion as a form of contraception will be halted by law. Although marriage will be encouraged by strong financial incentives, single mothers will receive all the help they need to bring up their children by themselves if they wish.

And even if they weren't, how can one man truly be said to "represent" 50,000 people?

The National Front seeks to replace this undemocratic system with popular participation. All governmental powers which can be dealt with at local level should be devolved down, to allow people to run their own lives. And important national decisions should be made by the vote of people's committees, or by delegates appointed by them. These should have the power to act as they think necessary to achieve the broad outlines decided by their committees. These delegates would at all times be subject to immediate recall and replacement.

Such direct democracy operated in Britain for hundreds of years under our Saxon and Viking forefathers. Now the advent of new information technology makes it possible to recreate such a Peoples' Democracy in a heavily populated post-industrial society.

There is much work still to be done to develop the full potential of this idea, but the broad principle is clear: participation, not representation.

There is much work still to be done to develop the full potential of this idea, but the broad principle is clear: participation, not representation.

A FAMILY OF NATIONS

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that all peoples have the right to national self-determination. This brings us into conflict with the centralized states of the 19th century, which try to submerge a number of unique European nations beneath a stifling blanket of uniformity.

The British State actually rules over several British Nations. Wales in particular has for hundreds of years been the victim of attempted cultural genocide by the Powers That Be in Westminster. Scotland and Ulster have been similarly oppressed, while the reaction to this imperialism was a major factor in the decision of the Irish people to break with Britain altogether.

The National Front believes that Britain is made up of five separate nations, with one British soul. We seek to encourage each nation to preserve its own unique identity. We believe that real strength and unity is to be found in mutual cultural respect and co-operation, not in oppression. We will therefore devolve as much power as possible to the peoples of each of the British nations — and to the English regions. We believe that such a federation will create a powerful unity in diversity.

EDUCATION FOR LIFE

NATIONALISTS BELIEVE that school-children should be taught the skills they need to play an active and useful role in society, not have their minds crammed with useless book knowledge. The present System uses education to create two distinct classes of individual: a minority who will make the System function — administrators, scientists, lawyers, etc — and the majority whose role in life is simply to consume and provide unquestioning factory- and cannon-fodder.

The National Front seeks to do away with this divided, consumerist society. We aim to spread ownership of the means of production to the entire adult population. We aim to involve millions of people in the machinery of government. But these things can only be done if the education system is changed drastically. Youngsters must be taught real skills, including communication and management as well as vocational ones. Quite simply, our schools must have the equipment and financial backing to produce active citizens, instead of passive consumers.

THE TECHNOLOGY OF REPRESSION

Much of the material is gained in low level operations. For example, when there was a school students' strike in London in 1972, Special Branch men approached headmasters for lists of pupils absent from school. Other information is taken from supposedly confidential state records.

The amount of information held on a single ordinary individual was shown during the conspiracy trial of a Welsh pacifist in 1983. Although Roger Griffiths was acquitted, it was revealed that the SB had his school, employment and supplementary benefit records, details of mortgage repayments, records of a driving offence and an old wall-daubing conviction, as well as a lot of information on his personal and family life.

MI5's computer backs up its access to the PNC records with the capacity to hold its own files of 900 words on more than 6 million people. Much of this information comes from telephone tapping. Much of this is done through a national Commissioners Newman and Anderton, have spoken openly of their support for a national Identity Card. This is likely to prove difficult to introduce openly, but it doesn't bother them unduly. The plastic National Insurance Number Card should do nicely. The black magnetic strip on the back can hold a substantial amount of computerized information, but strangely enough no-one seems to know what it is supposed to be for. Since the cards started being issued in 1984, it shouldn't be too difficult to guess!

This article, together with the first two parts of the series, show all too clearly how Britain is being turned into a Police State. This is not an accident, it is the inevitable response of the ruling Establishment to growing popular dissatisfaction with an undemocratic System based on exploitation and alienation.

As Sir Kenneth Newman, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police wrote in the Financial Times in March 1983: It would be better if we stopped talking

THE MOST frightening change in police methods in Britain in recent years is not at all obvious to the man in the street. Everyone can see the extent to which Black riots have given the police the excuse to "tool up" as a paramilitary force of enormous power. But behind the scenes growth of an almost limitless capacity for surveillance is actually a far bigger threat to our traditional freedoms.

This is disguised as just another part of the "fight against crime," but as the facts in this article show, that is only a small part of the story. Top police officers and the Home Office are past masters at concealing awkward truths from the public.

The most blatant example of this is the lie that Britain does not have a national police force. Such a force has always been rightly seen as a threat to civil liberty, so great care is taken to preserve the myth that "our" police forces are still locally based. The heart of Britain's nationally organized police force is the Police National Computer at Hendon. This was going to be called the National Police Computer until someone noticed that such a name would let the cat out of the bag. It provides a central data base for all the local forces, via a network of 900 computer terminals. It links every local Command & Control computer system into one giant nationwide network.

It is capable of storing information on 5 million people, and the fingerprints of 3 million more – yet plans to replace it with an even more powerful system are already well advanced.

The PNC also holds a list of all vehicles and details of their owners – 33 million of them! A special courier takes a computerized list of the latest changes from the DVLC Swansea to Hendon every day. Since most adults own a vehicle, it means that you are legally obliged to notify the police if you move. Imagine the outcry if this was done openly, instead of through the back-door of "vehicle licencing."

The police also use the innocent sounding Stolen & Suspect Vehicles Index (SSVI) to good effect. In 1983, this held details of 195,000 vehicles. But only 100,000 of these were actually stolen. Nearly as many again were in special intelligence categories such as "long-term interest to the police" or "seen and checked in noteworthy circumstances" – such as attending almost any kind of demonstration. In a more honest country, the SSVI would be openly known as the Vehicles Under Surveillance Index.

The same is true of the Wanted & Missing Persons Index. Nearly half of the people on this are not missing or wanted for arrest, but are simply there to be kept an eye on. It includes people who have had charges against them dropped. But only, to be fair, for "serious crimes" – including poaching, fare-dodging and picketting!

Access to all this information through the Police National Computer, together with the exchange of manpower and resources through the National Reporting Centre, has quietly created a single National Police Force in Britain.

INFORMATION GATHERING

But such a powerful machine is not much use without the intelligence to direct it. And intelligence which could be useful can only be obtained by gathering vast amounts of trivial information. The PNC files include rumours, hearsay and gossip, gathered as a deliberate policy of spying on law-abiding citizens in every part of the country.

For example, one of the duties written into the job specification of Area Constables in Lothian & Borders is to "secure the services of at least one observer in every street, not a paid professional informant, but someone who knows the inhabitants and is inquisitive enough to find out what is going on and who is willing to pass on such information." The instructions go on to instruct the constables to "cultivate shopkeepers, tradesmen and garage proprietors, who are good sources of information."

In view of such guidelines, Neigh-

MI5's computer backs up its access to the PNC records with the capacity to hold its own files of 900 words on more than 6 million people. Much of this information comes from telephone tapping. Much of this is done through a national centre at Chantrey House, near Victoria station, which can tap 1,000 lines simultaneously. With the introduction of the new computerized System X telephone network, tapping will be even easier. It will also allow the police automatically to keep records of who phones whom. This will be very useful for spotting individuals in touch with "subversive" groups like the NF, ecologists and union officials.

POLICE SPYING

New technology like this is adding to the spying power of the police all the time. Extensive tests have already been carried on the automatic registering of car number plates on motorways. And top officers are reported as being "very interested" in research into linking video cameras with computers capable of face recognition. Once this is perfected, it would only take a few "terrorist" scares to convince the public that it would be a good idea to have such cameras in subways and on busy street corners, just to keep an electronic eye on who's passing.

So if your work or social life brings you into contact with any of the sort of undemocratic police activities discussed in this series, let us know. We'll treat all such information in the strictest confidence and give your revelations the publicity they deserve.

FILMING DEMONSTRATORS

The requirements of traffic control have also been used to excuse a network of permanent TV cameras which monitor movement in various parts of London. These are controlled from a central operations room and can be zoomed in on individuals in a crowd. At key points in central London, the system is supported by Lynx cameras on all the traditional march routes. One is on the National Gallery (which explains why the Met. have allowed the NF's Remembrance Day march to go through Trafalgar Square in recent years).

When the Duchess of Argyle was asked if she would allow such a camera to be mounted on her home in Grosvenor Square, she was openly told that this "traffic control system" would actually be used to "help control demonstrators."

But only, to be fair, for "serious crimes" – including poaching, fare-dodging and picketting!

Access to all this information through the Police National Computer, together with the exchange of manpower and resources through the National Reporting Centre, has quietly created a single National Police Force in Britain.

The instructions go on to instruct the constables to "cultivate shopkeepers, tradesmen and garage proprietors, who are good sources of information."

In view of such guidelines, Neighbourhood Watch Schemes and Community Policing can be seen to be more important as information gathering techniques than as public relations gimmicks.

The rewards to the police are substantial. For instance, it is known that in some council estates in Edinburgh, the police have files on one-third of the entire male population! The proportion is even higher in Ulster, but police on the mainland are catching up fast.

POLITICAL POLICE

All this information is of course available to Britain's secret political police – the Special Branch and MI5. But they also collect vast quantities of their own. The combined SB, MI5 and MI6 (foreign affairs) budget in 1985 was 340 Million pounds. And it doesn't all go on expense accounts!

Meanwhile, with the introduction of the new computerized System X telephone network, tapping will be even easier. It will also allow the police automatically to keep records of who phones whom. COMMUNITY ACTION

COMMUNITY ACTION is the local campaigning wing of the National Front. The NF believes that people should organize self-help schemes to get things done in their own communities. Every step which reduces our servile dependence on political parties and the "Nanny State" is to be encouraged.

This page exists to publicize and support such initiatives, whether they are organized by active nationalists or by other members of the public.

FIGHTING FOR OUR COMMUNITIES

DEDICATION IS THE HALLMARK OF Blackpool NF

ONE of the NF's most dedicated Community Action units is in Blackpool where the local unit have been producing local leaflets and posters, and acting upon community initiatives for several years.

These initiatives have included local "patriot" leaflets and recent campaigns on drug abuse, child sexual abuse, and a schools campaign are all progressing very well.

On top of all this, Blackpool comrades have also made the time to fight for their right to display NF literature in local libraries, as many other organizations are allowed to display theirs.

Blackpool NF have gained a lot of respect from the local community because of their hard work and obvious dedication. This has also led to regular and reasonably fair reporting from the local media.

Blackpool are a shining example to other NF units around the country. Their commitment to Community Action is being mirrored by several other NF units who are all showing the way forward for the National Front.

All of these units agree unanimously about the well earned rewards that regular local community work brings about: respect and increasing support in the community, extra paper sales on door to door rounds, and even relatively fair reporting in the local press.

They all help to create a climate which enables the NF to work unceasingly for our people, and a climate which greatly reduces the chances and the opportunities for our enemies to attack and oppress the movement that exists for National Liberation and Social Justice.

OUR CHILDREN AT RISK

CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

The rising amount of sexual crimes against children in Blackpool and the Fylde should concern us all. Of all the crimes committed, none brings home the need for much more severe punishments for the perpetrators of this sickening crime against part of our society who can't fight back.

Child sexual abuse is a sick hidden sin that no one wants to talk about. They push it under the carpet and pretend that it doesn't exist.

It does, and most sexual abuse against children is done by a member of the child's family or a friend of the family. Also, the abusers come from all walks of life. We must educate our children to the problem and make it possible for them to talk to trained people about it.

From September to December last year in Blackpool 39 cases of child abuse were reported and 21 were connected to sexual abuse. Another 9 were reported this January. This crime must be fought on all sides and destroyed.

A recent offence was committed against an 18 month old child. A child who reported an act of abuse must have someone who will pursue the offence to its logical end.

People who commit the disgusting act go to prison for a few months and then are released to return to the home or area of the child they abused.

Social service workers cannot cope with the problems of child abuse. It is a massive problem.

The National Front say the courts should lock up the offenders for years not months and in some cases for life.

The National Front cares about our children's futures, do you? If so join us now and help fight to stop this outrage on our children!

The rising amount of sexual crimes against children in Blackpool and the Fylde should concern us all. Of all the crimes committed, none brings home the need for much more severe punishments for the perpetrators of this sickening crime against part of our society who can't fight back.

SINCE THE signing of the treacherous Anglo-Irish Agreement, several things have become painfully obvious to the people of Ulster.

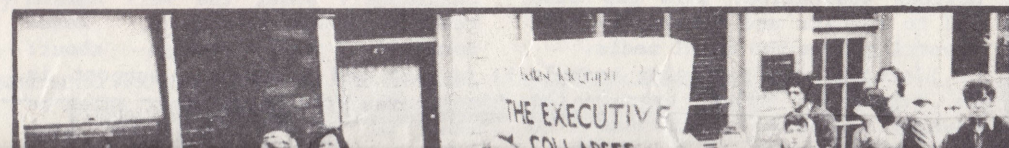

The first is the total incompetence of the Unionist "leadership." On the one hand, the 'respectable gentlemen' of the Official Unionist Party are always quick to distance themselves from the actions of the ordinary Loyalist people – lest their image of 'moderation' be tarnished. A FIERCE battle is now raging for the hearts and minds of the Ulster people. The outcome of this battle will determine whether the New Ulster ever comes into being, or whether our land becomes another Lebanon. Are you prepared to see the continuation of Ulster's agony – rule by a joint London/Dublin regime which denies us our basic political rights, and a steady slide to sectarian civil war? AWAKE

SINCE THE signing of the treacherous Anglo-Irish Agreement, several things have become painfully obvious to the people of Ulster.

The first is the total incompetence of the Unionist "leadership." On the one hand, the 'respectable gentlemen' of the Official Unionist Party are always quick to distance themselves from the actions of the ordinary Loyalist people – lest their image of 'moderation' be tarnished. And on the other, we have Paisley's 'Democratic' Unionist Party – famous for the number of private armies they raise with their hot air!

What a choice! Neither of these 'political' parties puts forward a social or economic policy worthy of the name. Neither takes any firm line on nuclear power or weapons. It seems that they solely want to "Keep Ulster British" – and they can't even agree on how to do that!

DITHER

Whilst the Provos butcher our folk, while the RUC trample on our rights, and while unemployment soars, the Unionist only dither. But at last there is a real alternative – the National Front. We have completely shattered the reactionary mould of Unionist politics by proposing a revolutionary programme of policies for Ulster.

The most exciting of these policies is our call for "Independence for Ulster" – often whispered about in Loyalist circles, but never before seriously proposed by a political movement.

It is Ulster's only option. We have been kicked out of the UK by the Anglo-Irish Agreement. A conspiracy of silence by politicians and the media made this a 'non-issue' on the mainland during the election. And in any event, the total failure of the Unionist parties to put over our case means that the majority of British last have complete and unqualified power over their own affairs. We will cease to rely on fat-cat politicians.

With workers' co-operatives, small family farms and businesses and some large scale industries under social ownership, Ulster workers will have control over Ulster's productive capacity. And we will be free from the unfair competition of cheap imports. With security in our own hands – through the formation of an armed citizens' militia – Republican terrorism will be defeated in weeks.

Ulster's farmers will be able to feed our people without the restrictive quotas of the EEC. And old industries like textiles, fishing and shipbuilding will be modernized and revitalized.

At the moment, the ancient nation of Ulster lies in virtual ruins. Our proud heritage has been decimated by years of political and economic misrule, as well as by the IRA's murder campaign and sectarian violence.

But even at this late hour we can rebuild our nation and restore her former pride, beauty and freedom. Yet this can only be done through the policies of the National Front – the policies of National Freedom and Social Justice!

Thousands of people rejoiced and took to the streets when the U.W.C. wrecked Sunningdale in 1974, but nothing really changed. On the eve of the "Day of Action" in 1981 Paisley claimed that his "Third Force" could muster 50,000 men to oppose Dublin rule. More hot air! We are told repeatedly that an independent Ulster could not survive. Viewed in capitalist terms this is true – but if run on the lines of a community benefit nation, Ulster's struggle for survival could and would end in victory.

"WATCHING THE DETECTIVES"

In a special feature for this issue, the NF Security Department takes a look at MI5 and Special Branch activity against the National Front. It reveals how NF activities are filmed by the police; how the post and telephone communications of NF members are often interfered with; how Front activities are regularly attended by plain-clothes political police, and how police informers have instigated racial attacks.

IN APRIL 1984 The Guardian newspaper published a series of articles which revealed the extent to which political groups in this country are placed under often illegal surveillance by the internal security service MI5 and the police Special Branches.

To the credit of the Guardian no attempt was made by the paper to conceal that it was not only the "left" who receive the unwelcome attentions of these State agencies - the National Front too is considered a target.

Indeed, on Wednesday, April 18th, 1984, the Guardian published a series of photographs of one particular SB officer, Mr Ray Dowd, attending public meetings and rallies organized by the NF. He had been "fingered" by the Party and soon afterwards moved on. Another SB man, known by the nickname of "Costello" moved from watching NF activities to bodyguarding the Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

Ironically he later appeared on the front cover of the satirical journal Private Eye next to Thatcher with the caption "Red Sky at Night? - Brixton's Alright!"

FILMING

Not only do the police regularly themselves to surveillance. On the programme 20/20 Vision and also on the American TV ABC News Nightline, broadcast on February 27th 1985, an undercover police informer, Ronnie White, was quoted as follows:

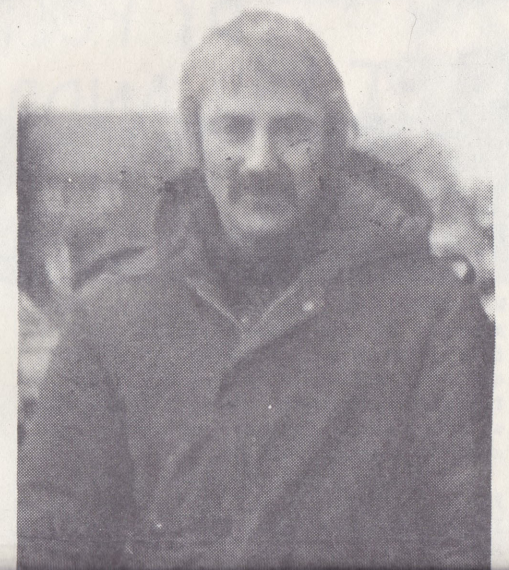

GREENFIELD (voice over): It charges that police infiltrated the right-wing National Front with agents who themselves committed violent acts.

RONNIE WHITE: We'd go in force, find a small group of coloureds and hit them with pick-axe handles.

REPORTER: And you were a witness to all this and a participant in all this?

MR. WHITE: Unfortunately, yes.

FILMING

Not only do the police regularly attend NF activities, they also film them. On October 19th, 1985, a National Front rally was held in Hoxton Square, East London. As members of the public approached the rally, which was entirely without incident, they were filmed by two cameramen on a building. The cameramen seemed to be particularly interested in filming the faces of members of the crowd.

A member of the Executive Council of the NF was later at City Road police station making a complaint. Whilst there he was surprised to see one of the two cameramen who had been filming the rally being ushered through a security door. In his hand he was carrying a police radio.

When the owners of Axcost House, a firm of Chartered Quantity Surveyors called Axtell Yates Hallett, were contacted, they wrote a letter (dated 25th October, 1985) in which they stated that they were approached by the Home Beat officer for permission to use the building. They declined to answer further questions.

The Home Beat officer for the area was at that time PC David Thomas. It is interesting to note the role played by Home Beat officers in the collection of intelligence - a role also emphasized by Metropolitan Police internal documents.

The most common method of information gathering is by the systematic monitoring of postal and telephone communications. The NF has been aware of this for some time - activities mentioned over the phone one day bring Special Branch to them the next.

On a demonstration against the then Home Secretary in 1981, Special Branch officers including "Costello" watched as NF members infiltrated a Tory meeting. Strangely, they didn't bother to tell the local cops or Whitelaw that NF activists were there - perhaps Mr Whitelaw had become unpopular as a result of his handling of the question of police pay?

NF members are also regularly treated to interruptions during their phone calls, apparently emanating from drunken SB men. At other times the telephone is simply cut off. This interference is becoming even easier with the installation of new micro-chip technology - System X - which makes it easy to block or remove from service whole groups of telephone lines at the flick of a switch.

A complaint is currently being considered by the Interception of Communications Tribunal (P.O. Box 44, London SE1 0TX) concerning the interception of post sent to the Party's Bookshop and the monitoring of telephone conversations there.

REPRESSION : A STORY OF EVERYDAY BRITAIN

PHIL ANDREWS FRAMED BY POLICE

A LESSON LEARNT

NF EXECUTIVE Council member Phil Andrews is the latest victim of the fast-growing police habit of "taking out" key activists by framing them on trumped up charges. He is now serving a six month prison sentence for something he did not do.

Like hundreds of other members, Phil attended last year's National Front St. George's Day pageant in South London. The event was entirely

Two stops later, a large number of police officers entered the train. As they did so, an Inspector pointed to Phil and his West London NF colleague Richard Baggeley and shouted "get the ones with long hair (i.e. not skinheads - Ed.) they're organizers."

One sixteen year old who was arrested outside the hall was told quite openly by the Magistrate hearing his case that if he had been at the

would face the same charge, but when the police files and Special Branch reports revealed that he was a very senior NF official, they decided to come up with something which would take him out of circulation for much longer.

When arrested, Phil had an unopened can of beer in his jacket pocket. One can of the same very common make had been thrown at the police outside the hall, so the police now claimed that this proved that Phil had thrown it, even though dozens of people had been drinking the same brew. They claimed that this can had hit a PC in the face, injuring his eye. Phil was therefore charged with Greivous Bodily Harm on a police officer - a very serious charge which usually leads to five or six years in prison.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE

Fortunately for Phil, the medical evidence showed that the injury was probably caused by a thrown glass, not a can. So the police forget their "GBH" lie and reduced the charge to ABH. In spite of conflicting police evidence, they managed to get a conviction.

The judge certainly did not believe the police case. This was made clear in his summing up and by the fact that he then gave Phil the minimum possible

THE NF units hardest hit by the growing wave of State repression have been in Ulster. Regular NFN readers will be familiar with the case of Belfast school-teacher and NF stalwart Andy McLorie and the YNF members arrested at the same time on trumped-up petrol-bombing charges.

When they were first arrested, interrogation tricks, ignorance of their rights and the pressure of brutal beatings and threats by the police led them to make statements. As a direct result of these, the prosecution was able to create a good enough case to keep them in jail on remand for six months and to make convictions fairly likely.

So when they were told that if they "confessed" they would only get short, probably suspended, sentences, they fell for the trick and pleaded guilty. "Make our lives easy and we'll put in a good word for you" they were told by the police before the full trial. Because their illegally extracted statements had compromised any possible defence, Andy and his comrades felt that making such a bargain was their best chance of getting off lightly.

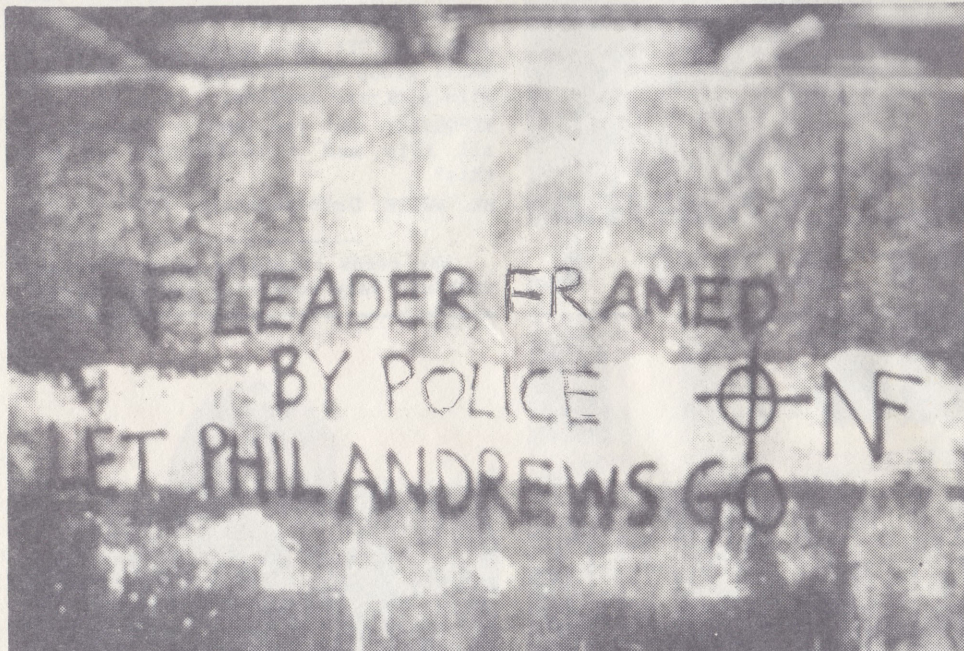

MISTAKE

They are now able to reflect on this mistake at Her Majesty's pleasure, because the prosecution then went into court and demanded the MAXIMUM SENTENCE. They were therefore quite fortunate to receive sentences ranging from one to three years.

All NF cadres must make it their

PHIL ANDREWS

FRAMED BY POLICE

NF EXECUTIVE Council member Phil Andrews is the latest victim of the fast-growing police habit of "taking out" key activists by framing them on trumped up charges. He is now serving a six month prison sentence for something he did not do.

Like hundreds of other members, Phil attended last year's National Front St. George's Day pageant in South London. The event was entirely peaceful and in the evening Phil and other NF members stayed on to attend a "White Noise" rock concert. Although no members of the public had been offended or harmed in any way by these private events, large numbers of police appeared at the end of the concert and started to push the youngsters around as they were leaving.

In spite of appeals simply to allow people to go home, the police continued trying to provoke trouble. Unjustified arrests and rough handling led to scuffles and several missiles were thrown. Phil Andrews and other NF members appealed for restraint and managed to calm things down.

ORGANIZERS

He then got on a tube train home.

Two stops later, a large number of police officers entered the train. As they did so, an Inspector pointed to Phil and his West London NF colleague Richard Baggeley and shouted "get the ones with long hair (i.e. not skinheads - Ed.) they're organizers."

One sixteen year old who was arrested outside the hall was told quite openly by the Magistrate hearing his case that if he had been at the political rally in the afternoon, as opposed to the evening rock concert, he would have been sent to prison. Instead he received a heavy fine. It would be interesting to know what law the police and courts believe makes it illegal to go to a political meeting!

Once down at the station, the police started trying to find a suitable charge to bring against them. Having no evidence, they settled for "threatening words and behaviour". Richard Baggeley later received an incredible SIX MONTH prison sentence for this, even though the police could find no member of the public who had felt "threatened" in any way.

POLICE FILES

At first it appeared that Phil

would face the same charge, but when the police files and Special Branch reports revealed that he was a very senior NF official, they decided to come up with something which would take him out of circulation for much longer.

When arrested, Phil had an unopened can of beer in his jacket pocket. One can of the same very common make had been thrown at the police outside the hall, so the police now claimed that this proved that Phil had thrown it, even though dozens of people had been drinking the same brew. They claimed that this can had hit a PC in the face, injuring his eye. Phil was therefore charged with Greivous Bodily Harm on a police officer - a very serious charge which usually leads to five or six years in prison.

MEDICAL EVIDENCE

Fortunately for Phil, the medical evidence showed that the injury was probably caused by a thrown glass, not a can. So the police forget their "GBH" lie and reduced the charge to ABH. In spite of conflicting police evidence, they managed to get a conviction.

The judge certainly did not believe the police case. This was made clear in his summing up and by the fact that he then gave Phil the minimum possible sentence for such an "offence" - a mere six months.

As a result of this frame-up, Phil spent Christmas and New Year in Pentonville prison. He should be released in March. NF comrades who have visited him report that he is in very good spirits and is determined to redouble his efforts for the National Front as soon as he is released.

As Phil told an NFN reporter who visited him inside: "They won't intimidate ME into backing down and saying that the NF can win its struggle for Britain without confronting the State. We are locked in a political war with the System, but however many they lock up, we will win if we organize and stick together."

THE NF units hardest hit by the growing wave of State repression have been in Ulster. Regular NFN readers will be familiar with the case of Belfast school-teacher and NF stalwart Andy McLorie and the YNF members arrested at the same time on trumped-up petrol-bombing charges.

When they were first arrested, interrogation tricks, ignorance of their rights and the pressure of brutal beatings and threats by the police led them to make statements. As a direct result of these, the prosecution was able to create a good enough case to keep them in jail on remand for six months and to make convictions fairly likely.

So when they were told that if they "confessed" they would only get short, probably suspended, sentences, they fell for the trick and pleaded guilty. "Make our lives easy and we'll put in a good word for you" they were told by the police before the full trial. Because their illegally extracted statements had compromised any possible defence, Andy and his comrades felt that making such a bargain was their best chance of getting off lightly.

MISTAKE

They are now able to reflect on this mistake at Her Majesty's pleasure, because the prosecution then went into court and demanded the MAXIMUM SENTENCE. They were therefore quite fortunate to receive sentences ranging from one to three years.

All NF cadres must make it their duty to write letters of support to these and all other NF political prisoners. And everyone must learn from the mistakes which put them in prison.

As Andy McLorie has said ruefully since going down. "If we'd read the Arrest & Interrogation article in NFN (issue 78) we would have been released after a week without charge. Never trust the police, and never make a statement. If we hadn't made statements, we'd be free."

But in spite of everything, Andy is defiant and optimistic. "This won't stop our work for the National Front and Ulster. Many of Ulster's bravest and finest men are in prison here, so we can still do our bit by spreading the NF message among the men who really count."

no members of the public had been offended or harmed in any way by these private events, large numbers of police appeared at the end of the concert and started to push the youngsters around as they were leaving.

In spite of appeals simply to allow people to go home, the police continued trying to provoke trouble. Unjustified arrests and rough handling led to scuffles and several missiles were thrown. Phil Andrews and other NF members appealed for restraint and managed to calm things down.

ORGANIZERS

He then got on a tube train home.

Instead he received a nasty letter which would be interesting to know what law the police and courts believe makes it illegal to go to a political meeting!

POLITICAL PRISONERS

IT IS VITAL that our political prisoners know that they are not forgotten. Every NF member and supporter must make the effort to drop a few lines of support to those who have given up their freedom in the National Front's "Battle for Britain."

And if any comrade of yours is framed or convicted of a political offence, send the details at once to us at: P O BOX 228, MANOR PARK, LONDON E12.

BEHIND THE WIRE.....

Hardline Ulster Loyalist councillor George Seawright is still in prison in the notorious H Block compound in Magilligan. He received a savage prison sentence for slightly damaging Tory traitor Tom King's car during a protest against the Anglo-Irish Agreement.

Mr. Seawright's active opposition to the betrayal of Ulster is in marked contrast to some of the more "respectable" politicians, who have as usual stirred up feelings and then kept safely out of the firing line. This is no surprise, because George has a well-earned reputation for "leading from the front" - one of his earlier exploits was going into a block of crowded flats in pro-IRA West Belfast to remove single-handed a provocative and illegal Republican flag.

He has also gained respect for maintaining his grass roots contacts. Growing political status has not led him to move out to a big house in the suburbs. George remains approachable and friendly to every friend of Ulster. He and his family still live on their home estate in working class Belfast, sharing the dangers and problems faced by everyone else.

GOOD SPIRITS

George is reported to be in very good spirits and to be itching to get back into the struggle for Ulster's freedom. His release will be a good day not just for his wife, Elizabeth, and their children, but indeed for the whole of Ulster.

The "Fur Coat" brigade may have found it expedient to "forget" about George Seawright being locked up, but ordinary Ulster people recognize a man who is prepared to stand by his principles, whatever the personal cost.

Send letters of support to George Seawright at the address on this supplement sheet. Messages of solidarity would also be appreciated by Mrs. Elizabeth Seawright at 20g Forthriver Road, Belfast, BT13 3SH.

Of course, we must also never forget that George Seawright, and the Ulster NF prisoners - Andy McLorie, Paul and Peter Bain, William McKay and Steven Patterson - are only a few of the hundreds of Ulster Loyalists now rotting in jail for their beliefs.

SEETHING ANGER

It is hardly surprising that Ulster and parts of Scotland are seething with ever growing anger against a government which totally ignores the democratically expressed wishes of a million Britons and then locks them up if they take to the streets to get over their message in the only way left open to them.

The Anglo-Irish Agreement has survived so far because of the weakness and cowardice of the old "respectable" loyalist leadership, whose rhetoric and inaction has merely encouraged futile and counter-productive violence. But time is running out for the old politicians, and for Thatcher's Deal as well. Whether presently in prison or simply biding their time, the men who will sweep them all aside are waiting in the wings.
